JANICE PORTER

Worthington

Honored

1952

Miss Marion L. Bartlett (left) was honored at a testimonial luncheon at the Worthington Golf Club in recognition of her work as Sunday School superintendent. She is shown with Mrs. Kenneth Pease who arranged the party and who will succeed her in the church school work.

Miss Bartlett retired in 1956 from teaching in the Springfield school system after nearly a half century of service. She came home to Worthington to keep house for her brother and sister and to catch up on personal projects. She was promptly recruited for service in a number of capacities in her home town, including administration of the Sunday School of the local Congregational Church.

Special guests at the luncheon included the former pastor and his wife, the Rev. Edward U. Cowles, now of Easthampton, and the present pastor and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas K. MacConnell.
