

perhaps one only realizes that as you mature and become wiser.

It is a town, where we all looked after each other and never thought twice about doing so. Where friends and neighbors share what they have, and only wanted the best for each other.

So many wonderful memories and also heartbreaks, but we all got through those together. Being raised in Worthington, where we learned our core values, humility, kindness, and love of mankind. These and many more, were gifts given to us, that all six of us took with us, as we ventured out in life, careers, marriages, children, etc. All the goodness found in Worthington went with us, in everything we did and made us who we are today. Thank you Dad and Mom for giving us the best, Worthington!

Love to all,

Mike, Patti, Joe, Frank, and Jim Shea
