

Lucie G. Mollison

WORTHINGTON — Mrs. Lucie Glass Mollison, 84, of Worthington Center died Monday evening at the Berkshire Medical Center, Pittsfield, following a long illness.

She moved to The Maples, the town's new senior housing complex, on May 1, leaving her home of 58 years on Huntington Road.

Born in Swampscott on July 11, 1899, daughter of Joseph and Ida Glass, Mrs. Mollison was a graduate of Lynn English High School and Salem Normal School, now Salem State College. She taught school in Goshen and Cummington before her marriage to Harry W. Mollison in 1920. He died in 1968.

For many years, she and her husband operated one of the largest dairy farms in Worthington. In addition, they delivered mail on the Star Route from Huntington to Worthington, and she assisted her husband during his tenure as the town's tax collector.

Mrs. Mollison was a director of the Worthington Historical Society and a member of the First Congregational Church, the Women's Benevolent Society, Worthington Grange 90, Hillside Pomona Grange, the Highland Club and the Worthington Library Association.

She was also a Gold Star Mother, her son Donald W. Mollison having been killed in action on Guadalcanal during World War II.

Mrs. Mollison leaves two sons, Walter C. and Howard C. Mollison, both of Worthington; seven grandchildren, and nine great-grandchildren.

Memorial services will be held tomorrow at 2 at the Congregational Church, with the Rev. Mollie Kitchen, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Center Cemetery. There will be no calling hours.

Contributions in Mrs. Mollison's memory may be made to the church or to The Maples.

The Charles A. Bisbee Funeral Home in Chesterfield is in charge of arrangements.

Obituary for Lucie Glass Mollison

Clipped By:

dbrenner

Sat, Feb 24, 2024