MISS S. T. RICE, CHURCH LEADER, EDITOR, IS DEAD

Was President of Woman's Benevolent Society in
Worthington; Rites
Tomorrow

WORTHINGTON, Aug. 22 — Miss Susan Tracy Rice, daughter of the late William A. and Hannah (Seeley) Rice, died in Albany Hospital, Albany, N. Y., Sunday afternoon following a brief illness. She was born in Albany but she had lived most of her life in this town at the old Rice homestead. She was actively identified with town and church affairs and at the time of her death was president of the Women's Benevolent Society.

She was an incorporator of the Worthington Public Library. With Robert Schaufler she was joint editor in "Mother's Day," "Mothers in Verse and Prose," "Easter," and "Our American Holiday" series.

She leaves her brother, Col. William G. Rice of Albany; two sisters, Catherine McDowell Rice of this town, and Mrs. Harlan Creelman of Albany, and a nephew, Prof. William G. Rice, Jr., of the University of Wisconsin.

Funeral services will be held in Worthington Church Tuesday at 2. Dr. Harlan Creelman of Auburn Theological Seminary will officiate, assisted by the pastor, Rev. J. Herbert Owen, and the former pastor, Rev. J. H. Burckes. Burial will be in North Cemetery.
